

ABSTRACT

The present invention is directed to novel soluble substrates for γ -secretase. More particularly, the invention provides a soluble fusion polypeptide with a Notch
5 segment containing the γ -secretase-dependent cleavage sites (γ and ϵ) fused to a NusA protein. Methods and compositions for making and using such a fusion protein are disclosed.